North of Colorado Boulevard, this lovely redone house on an Eagle Rock cul-de-sac is a sweet little slice of suburbia with an update.

The three-bedroom residence measures a modest but ample 1,308 square feet, and holds two bathrooms and an updated kitchen with white and blue tiles and leaded glass cabinets. The kitchen also has an eat-in area off the main communal spaces.

The house's bedrooms include one flexible space that could also function as a family space or den (or a sweet master bedroom). It has a brick fireplace and French doors out to the backyard.

In the terraced rear yard, a dining deck, a covered patio area, citrus trees, and herb boxes await.

The house last sold in 2013 for $651,000. It's now asking $899,000.
